SPOILED HER PLANS.

The Woman Claiming to be Attorney for the Walden Heirs Denounced.

Lexington, Nov. 12.—Mrs. L. F. Taylor, claiming to be a Washington lawyer looking up heirs to Lord Walder's estate in England, has been here two weeks. She has induced about thirty prominent citizens to believe they are heirs to the Walden estate, and yesterday at noon she held a meeting with them in the Phoenix Hotel. While the meeting was in progress the chief of police received a letter from Charles B. Smith, of the Evans Hotel, Washington, which says she is well known in Washington as a hotel beat, and that she has been sent out of the District of Columbia on passes furnished by the police department.

When the letter was shown to Mrs. Taylor she bitterly denied its statements.

Havana, Nov. 12.—Capt. Gen. Blanco has issued a circular announcing that he has decided to furnish all the protection necessary to bring about a resumption of general planting, harvesting and reconstruction throughout the country, especially in the case of the sugar crop. He further decrees that all the authorities of the island are to lend unconditional support to the proprietors of farms in the efforts of the latter to gather their crops and tend their cattle. The civil authorities are instructed to encourage to the utmost those who wish to plant sugar cane and to offer them assurances and the necessary military forces to protect themselves and their property. The regions where agriculture is more extended will be especially provided for. The authorities are authorized to assist even those who are behind in their taxes and to do their utmost to increase the commercial facilities of the planters.

All war measures are abrogated in regard to agricultural implements, machinery, etc., and the right of the railroads to charge 20 per cent. on all freight carried is done away with.

The government officials throughout the island are instructed to faithfully comply with these instructions, and they are notified that if they show themselves deserving they will be rewarded in accordance with the degree of zeal they have manifested in pushing the work of bringing about a "reconstruction" of the Island of Cuba.

THE ALLARD CASE

Is Enlivened by a Bloody Fight in the Court House Hall This Afternoon.

Tom Allard, Son of the Plaintiff and John C. Willis, of Metropolis, the Belligerents.

An exciting fight took place this forenoon about 10 o'clock in the hall at the county court house between Tom Allard, son of Mrs. Josephine Spaulding, plaintiff in the suit against Oliver Allard to break the will of the late J. L. Allard, and John C. Willis, of Metropolis, who was Oliver Allard's body guard a few months ago, appointed by the Mass. court accompanying him where ever he went.

Willis came up this morning from Metropolis this morning to testify in the case. Young Allard has been occupying a seat in the court room during the trial and heard Willis' testimony. It is alleged that Willis made some statement reflecting on Mrs. Spaulding, Tom Allard's mother. Young Allard left the court room, and, full of resentment, was waiting for Willis when he emerged into the hall.

"You'll have to prove what you said in there," Allard declared.

"I'm a friend to you, Tom," Willis is quoted as saying in reply.

"You're liar, you're no such thing," retorted Allard, and Willis pushed him away.

Allard then struck him in the left eye, and the two fell to fighting, bursting through the door into the circuit clerk's office, where they were finally separated.

Willis, it is said, claims that Allard struck him when he was not looking, but he is not corroborated by eye witnesses in this statement. His face was badly disfigured in the fracas and he bled freely.

Allard went at once to the city hall and was released on bond to appear and answer to a breach of the peace charge tomorrow.

This afternoon the two came near fighting again in the court house hall.

Look out for the big sale at Noah's Ark next week.

Shackelford's Plurality With All the Returns In.—He Had 123 Majority Over All.

The Official Vote in the Counties of the First District.—The Democrats Had About 7,000 Plurality.

The first complete table of the vote cast in the election for clerk of court of appeals is published by the Courier-Journal. Nearly all the figures are official, only a small percentage being those obtained from the unofficial count.

While Mr. Sam J. Shackelford wins by the handsome plurality of 17,326, this is from 8,000 to 13,000 less than the plurality that has been claimed for him since the election. His majority, which is the number of votes he received over the combined total of all his opponents, is 123.

The totals for all the candidates are: Shackelford, 186,152; Bailey, 168,826; Hindman, 9,159; Parker, 6,574; Wallace, 1,470. The total vote cast in the State was 372,181, which is about 78,000 less than was cast last year for President. This is not as great a falling off as was expected. The vote for Hindman and Parker was not reported from all the counties and may be changed by the report of the Secretary of State.

The following is the vote of the First District:

CHURCH ENSATION.

A Man Fired Out for An Alleged Ugly Offense.

Opinions Differ as to His Innocence or Guilt.

BLOOD RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH IS NOTED FOR SENSATIONS, SAYS A CORRESPONDENT TO THE MURRAY LEDGER.

This time it's a charge against E. Lassiter for trying to force Essie Stewart, the little 13-year-old daughter of J. T. Stewart, who is pastor of said church. The girl states that the attempt was made last May, her father knowing of it, and told other brothers of it the first of June, so the story goes the three months between then and now. When church conference was held this was kept a secret and the church reported in peace. A party was telling it to some of the members and asked all to keep it a secret from Eros and intended to let him know it. He selected his own committee to investigate it, and Lassiter was told of the charge, it enraged him and he denounced it as a base, slanderous falsehood and that it was the infamous slime of some slanderer done through prejudice. But the committee, which consisted of men, proceeded to investigate and said charge and to take evidence in writing and verbal. Three of the committee were deacons of said church and owing to the girl's crooked statements, part of them known to be false, and the conflicting statements made by both her parents, the committee said there was nothing in the charge and, without Mr. Lassiter to be innocent. Notwithstanding it agreed to let the committee report the dual and presented to the church, it did not suit. Hence, Mr. Outland who had ridden around and to the members his side only arose and made a motion to withdraw their fellowship from said Lassiter for attempted seduction without debate, so the vote was taken without any trial without the committee report which declared the charge false, and without Mr. Lassiter having a word to say at the same time had abundance of evidence to prove him innocent. The vote stood 12 for, and 11 against the motion, seven stewards voting. The deacons called another meeting, but the clerk and moderator declared it was illegal, so on the lost regular church conference day Mr. Lassiter was there. He arose to ask for a hearing and a fair trial. He was told by the moderator

THE CORNER STONE

OF THE NEW BROADWAY SCHOOL BUILDING

Will be Laid on the 19th, Next Friday.

The committee appointed by the Board of Education to arrange for the exercises of the laying of the corner stone of the new Broadway school building has changed the date back to the 19th, next Friday, and this is positively the date on which it will occur. The Masonic fraternity had made all its arrangements for that date, and could not conveniently alter its plans, as the Louisville officers had arranged to be here next Friday. The stone has not yet arrived, but is expected today or tomorrow.

The local lodge of Elks was formerly invited to attend the exercises, and last night requested all Elks who can possibly do so to attend. They will not attend in a body, however, but as private citizens.

UNHAPPY MISHAPS.

DUFFY HAD ONE ENGAGEMENT, THEN HIT THE GRIT.

There will be no "Duffy's Mishaps" tonight at Morton's Opera House. There were enough of them last night, and when the curtain descended on the conclusion of the last act, the audience had dwindled away to only a few spectators. The company seems to have been "on the hog," and the winsome soubrette, Augusta Hooley, bid herself, with her company, to Metropolis.

FRIDAY, NOV. 12, 1897.

LAST year Bryan carried Kansas by 12,000. This year the Republicans have carried the state. This is one of Bryan's reasons for a free silver victory in 1900.

POLITICS IN NEW YORK.

We believe that those Republican journals who are congratulating themselves and the party that the Republicans of New York are rid of Low and Lowism forever, have no just conception of the situation in New York. None lament the fact more than we that the unfortunate independent movement appeared in Greater New York at this time. It must, however, be borne in mind that those independent Republicans with their independent Democratic allies, who composed the Citizens' Union party, had already elected a mayor of New York City, and had defeated Tammany Hall on its own battle ground; that that independent movement under the leadership of Mayor Strong had given the city of New York the cleanest and most economical administration in its history; that that Citizens' Union party had done what the Republicans could not do—elect a mayor of New York City; that the petition asking Hon. Seth Low to make the race for mayor of Greater New York was signed by 137,000 voters. These are facts.

RETHURF B. HAYES was elected governor of Ohio three times, his largest plurality being 7,518. Governor Bushnell, the Republican candidate, received 28,000 plurality this year. W. J. Bryan extracts lots of comfort out of this fact also.

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS, the apostle of Bryanism in Massachusetts, has been running the Democratic party in that state three years. In 1895 it polled 121,599 votes; in 1896, 103,662 votes, and in 1897, 79,166 votes. This is another evidence of the popularity of Bryanism and free silver.

SOME few weeks ago we used to hear complaint about the street roller; the perennial kicker said it was a failure and some sensible folks were foolish enough to believe his statement. If those people will go down on Third street where the sewer is being built and see with how great difficulty the street is dug up, they will be able to judge for themselves whether the roller makes hard street.

IS regard to the issues of 1900 we are willing to admit that it will be some phase of the money question. But it does not follow that we believe there is any cause for apprehension or distrust of the future. Free coinage of silver is not a dead issue, yet the campaign of 1896 was by no means without permanent results.

After a campaign of education such as this country had never seen, the people decided against the theories of the Chicago platform. Commercial events this year have proved that the whole course of reasoning pursued by the advocates of free coinage was fallacious and not supported by facts.

The Citizens Union movement, or "Lowism," as it is called, is not a transient affair. It has a mission to perform, and that mission will be accomplished before it disintegrates. When the Citizens' Union party elected Strong mayor of New York, its victory was a protest against the ring rule and corruption of Tammany Hall and the bossism of Richard Croker. It retained its organization and perfected it for the sole purpose of defeating Tammany Hall in the great struggle for the control of Greater New York. It is a well known fact that the Republican party of New York is under the absolute control of Senator Platt. The leaders of the Citizens' Union movement felt that a surrender of their identity and organization to the Republican party would be promoting just what they were fighting against—machine politics and one man power. They said that they were leading the agitation in this country for a cheaper money hit up on the money question simply because they thought it was the most popular issue. They stand ready to abandon it at any time that another issue appears which contains the promise of victory. Hence it is that we believe the financial issue is with us for several years perhaps, but more as a rallying point for those dissatisfied elements that fail to reap their full proportion of the prosperity of this world.

THE recent decision in regard to Building and Loan Associations is not as liberal with the associations as it should be, but is a more liberal construction of the law than the former ones. It makes the borrower responsible for losses to the extent of his stock, as well as the lender. Almost any loan a bank makes in Kentucky could be placed on the basis of usury. Experience has been that the fewest number of men will resort to that extreme plea, but prefer to pay what they promise to pay. Looking back over the experience of our city, there have not been over ten men who plead usury in twenty five years. When the number of transactions that take place every day in our banks is taken into consideration, you can then determine how few people will resort to pleading usury.

Building and Loan Associations have been of greater benefit to Kentucky than any other one line of business. They have enabled hundreds of poor people to get homes that could not have gotten them in any other manner. While any economical working man can pay eight or ten dollars a month, very few can get from five hundred to a thousand dollars together at one time; besides this they enable people to save small amounts each month and get a good rate of interest on their savings. These are a few of the benefits, but there are others. The real estate men, the mechanics and laborers, the mill men all derive a direct benefit, and these in turn spend their money with the grocer, dry goods men, shoe men and in fact there are very few people in a community that do not receive some benefit from a good live Building and Loan Association doing business in their midst. There should be a law passed that will protect them to the fullest extent. A man that does not want to do business with them don't have to, but by all means make every man stand up and do just what he agrees to do after he has gotten the association's money.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

The little miss was visiting a lady friend of her mother. Just before she started home the lady gave her a nice slice of cake.

"Now what are you going to say?" asked the mother, as she bent over to prompt her.

The child stopped musing her a moment and thought. But before her mother could whisper the overdue "thank you" into her ear, the girl triumphantly exclaimed, as she extended the other hand, "more!"

Mr. Matt Carney was up at Princeton the other night and relates an amusing incident of the play, "Heart of Chicago," a feature that was not on the program.

The foot lights in the house are regular lamps with chandeliers as large as a theater hat. During one act a large column of "stone" was carelessly manipulated by one of the stage hands, and toppled over across the foot lights. It didn't prove to be very heavy, and was very unlike a stone column when viewed endways. It developed, also, that it was constructed of very inflammable material, as it caught fire and began to burn. It was doubtless the first time very many in the audience had seen a big stone pillar burn, and with one accord the spectators arose to applaud. The "supe" desperately struggled with coats, blankets and anything else handy to subdue the flames, and finally succeeded in the undertaking. Quiet was finally restored, but when the stone column was put back in place it was noticed that a large hole had been eaten almost entirely through it.

Some of the new candidates have been so annoyed by the persistent importunities of candidates, that they will consider no application not submitted in writing. This obviates the necessity of arguing the question of who is the most worthy, and precludes the unpleasant necessity of sometimes having to tell a man that you are for his opponent. If all the candidates believe what they tell their friends, there are many unpleasant surprises in store for some of them.

It is doubtless somewhat discouraging for the woman who was yesterday committed to jail, to learn that when a person of her standing tries to reform and lead a better life, she usually finds the world against her more than ever before. The woman in question had given bond for her appearance before the circuit court next month, and her securities stuck to her until she married and started to lead a better life, then gave her up and had her sent to jail. There are two sides to every question, but a fallen woman finds herself just as friendless, if not more so, after she tries to reform, than while her life is one of reproach—at least it looks that way. She may have spiritual friends, but they are not very material as a rule.

Sam Jones says of society: "When God gives a man a wife and six children He does a great deal for that fellow. But when He gives him a society woman and a poodle, He has thrown off on him. These society women look upon children as nuisances. I have had some of the old society women shake hands with me. I had as soon shake a dead fish's tail. I might not give one of your old stock darning women for all of the society women in the country. Between cutting off the top of their dress for the ball room and the bottom for the bicycle, these society women will soon have no clothes left. A man said to a society woman, 'I hope I'll see more of you.' She said, 'Come to the ball tonight.' Some people say you shouldn't speak that way before mixed audiences. You old sisters wear a high collar, close around your necks—that's modest and comely. But deliver me from the society women who button their collars around their waists. You preachers don't talk that way, do you? You talk about the sweet bye-and-bye. You ought to talk about the nasty now and now."

The fastest time on record was made by a Missouri dog. The brute traveled 546 miles in thirteen hours, according to the following, from the Charleston Enterprise: "A Maryland dog jumped into the fly wheel at the electric light plant and, being caught within its rim, revolved for thirteen hours before he was taken out. In that time he traveled 546 miles and at the end of his journey he was a very dead dog."

The Paris (Tenn.) Herald has a very flowery writer. He wrote for yesterday's issue an account of the marriage of a young couple who belong to the elite. As is usual with flowery writers, he had to quote poet-

This is the time of the year when the tramp makes his appearance. A hapless victim of an economic fault of his own making, he is kept marching from one place to another only to hear repeated in his already large ears the command to "move on."

We think to cure vagrancy by passing it on to the next town. We imagine that if we are rid of the immediate presence of the tramp we may bathe the influence that produced him. We do not want him in our midst because he is not comely to look upon. We think his presence greatly disturbs the security of our men, and that if he is not a criminal already he is ready for the transformation. The fact is too many undeserving "weary Willies" are encouraged in their profession, if such can be called, by a too free benevolence. If a tramp is deserving of help he is willing to work for it, otherwise not.
